Re: TCEQ Public Drinking Water Recognition Program

Dear LEN FORSYTH:

We recently implemented a program to recognize public water systems (PWS) for the effort, dedication, and contribution they have made to the state and to protecting the public health of Texas citizens. Currently, we are recognizing PWS for the outstanding performance they demonstrated for calendar year 2005.

Six individual recognition categories are available for each PWS listed in the TCEQ Water Utilities Database: Small Water Systems Security Program, Substantial Source Water Protection Program Implementation, Optimization Program, Total Coliform Rule Program (TCRP), Innovative or Proactive System, and Outstanding Public Drinking Water System. Each nominated water system was evaluated for specific category criteria.

The purpose of the award is to recognize those water systems showing initiative to exceed minimum acceptable TCEQ standards; focus public attention on importance of water system enhancement activities; serve as an example to other water systems; and recognize those water systems that have voluntarily taken the extra steps to protect their public drinking water. We have posted names of all the PWS receiving recognition awards for 2005 at our TCEQ Agency web site www.tceq.state.tx.us/goto/pdwawards.

Congratulations on your selection as an award winner in one of the above categories. Enclosed is your recognition award certificate for 2005.

Sincerely,
